Name: T Cameron Waller
Project: Profondeur
Date: 31 October 2016
Number: 1

Genes

Transcripts

Proteins

Metabolites

As there are multiple types of nodes and links, the metabolic network is a multilayer or multilevel multi-dimensional network. Maybe distinguish node types by position visual channel.
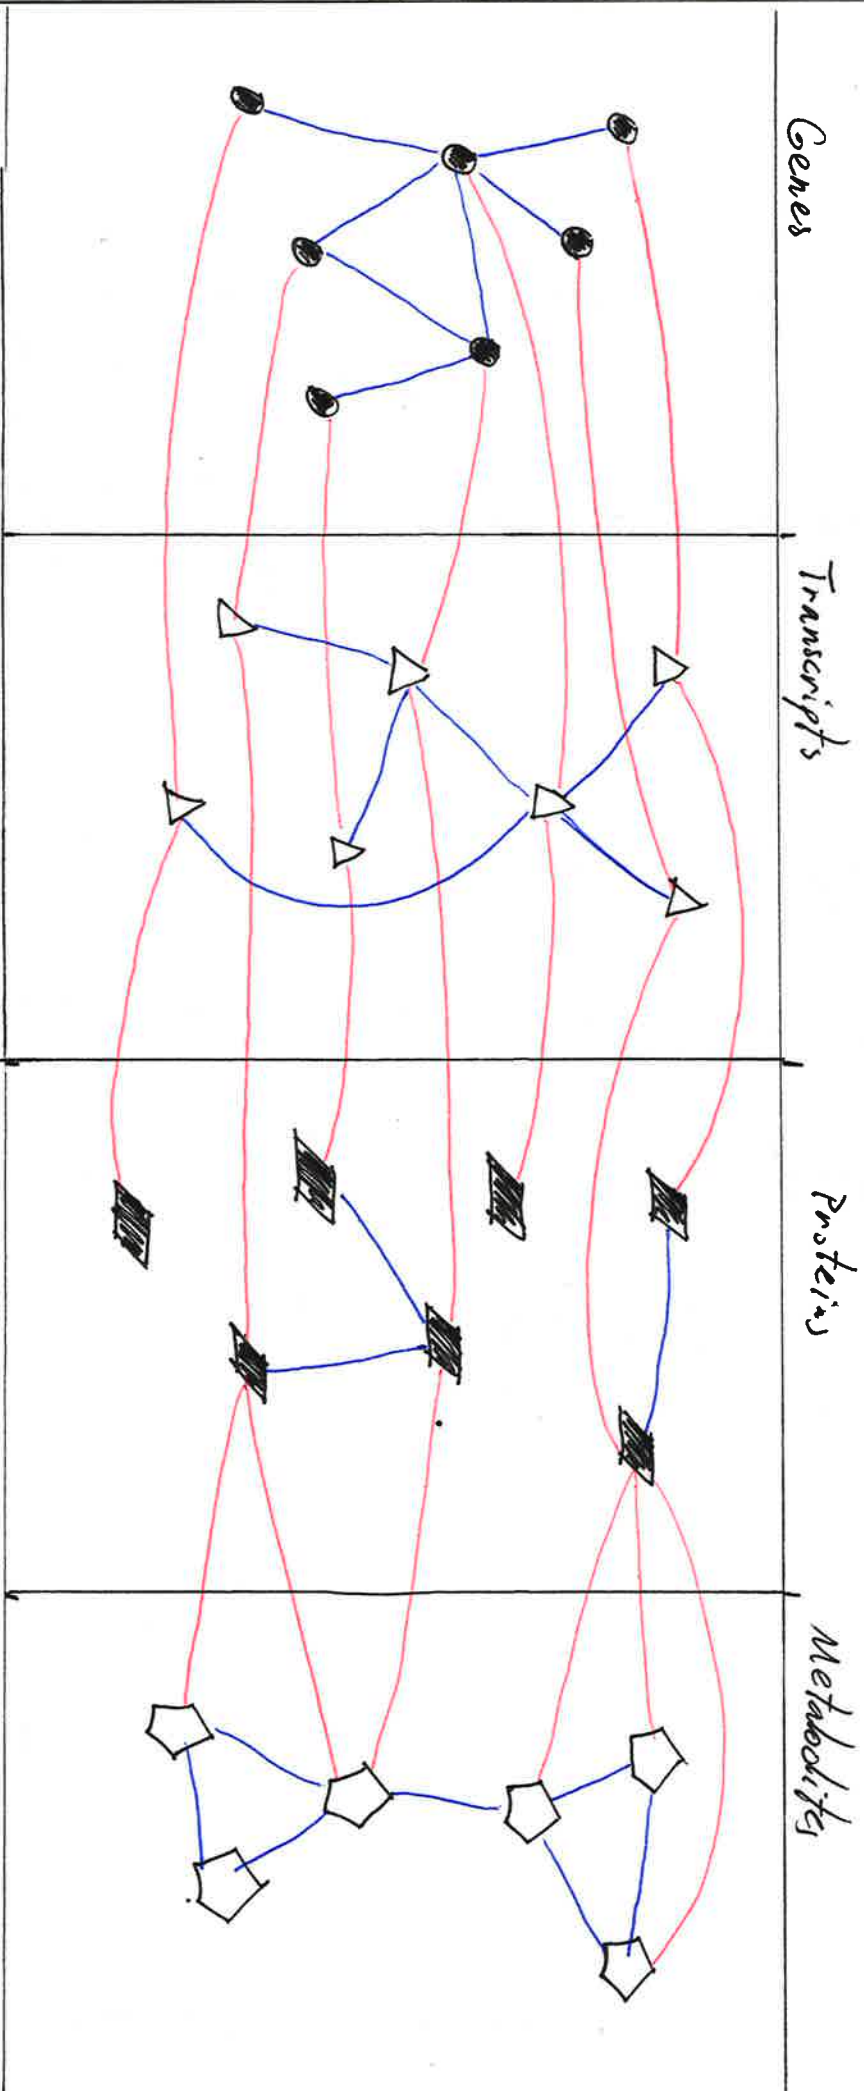

This spatial separation of node types clearly distinguishes node types even for small simple networks. This layout also becomes very complex even for collapsed (showing multiple node types on same layout) could still be beneficial. Maybe the use could switch between.